Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Investment Objective and Strategies

To provide a source of monthly income, with the potential for long term growth through capital appreciation and growth in dividends by investing primarily in common shares, convertible debentures and other equity related securities of U.S. issuers. The Fund will attempt to produce a total return (net of fees) from the combination of dividends, growth in dividends, and capital appreciation that is in excess of the return of the S&P 500 Index, and secondarily, the Russell 1000 Value Index over a full market cycle.

The strategy employs a value approach to the management of equities. The Fund will generally reflect the following value characteristics: price/earnings and price/book ratios at, or below the market (S&P 500 Index); a dividend yield at, or above the market; and the majority of common shares held by the Fund will have a 25-year history of paying cash dividends. The Fund is sub-advised by Barrow, Hanley, Mewhinney & Strauss, LLC (“Barrow Hanley”) of Dallas, Texas.

Risk

The overall risks of investing in the Fund are as described in the Simplified Prospectus. There were no material changes to the Fund during the year that affected the overall level of risk.

Results of Operations

The Fund’s net assets decreased by 5.8% in the first half of 2022 to $17.9 million (in US dollars) from $19.0 million (in US dollars) at the end of 2021. Of this change, $0.9 million was attributed to negative investment performance and $0.2 million to net outflows from unitholders.

For the six months ended June 30, 2022, the US Dividend Fund Series A returned -4.9% before fees, and Series B and F returned -5.5% and -5.4%, respectively, after fees and expenses. The S&P 500 Index returned -20.0% in the same period. (All performance figures shown are in US Dollars).

The Leith Wheeler US Dividend Fund seeks to provide a source of monthly income, with the potential for long-term growth through capital appreciation and growth in dividends by investing primarily in common shares, convertible debentures and other equity-related securities of US issuers.

In the first quarter of 2022, the fund returned +2.5%, outperforming the S&P 500 Index, which returned -4.6%. The portfolio’s outperformance was due to an overweight in the Energy sector and underweight in the poorly performing Information Technology sector. Companies that have been hit the hardest were the more expensive and high flying “stay at home” technology stocks.

In the second quarter of 2022, the fund returned -7.2%, outperforming the S&P 500 Index, which returned -8.3%. Most areas of the portfolio added value, such as in the outperforming Health Care sector. Stock selection in the Consumer Staples sector and an underweight to the underperforming Consumer Discretionary sector also added value. Value stocks continued to perform well relative to growth stocks as valuation multiples compressed in an environment of higher interest rates and inflation. We believe that valuation compression will likely remain a headwind for growth stocks, but a pause may unfold given the ongoing volatility in 2022.

Recent Developments

In July 2022, the S&P 500 returned +9.2%.

(1) This information is provided as at December 31 of the year shown; unless noted otherwise.

(2) Management expense ratio is based on total expenses (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of the daily average net asset value during the period.

(3) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.

(4) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio adviser manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher a fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a fund.

Past Performance

General

The Fund’s performance assumes all distributions made by the Fund in the years shown were reinvested in units of the Fund and is based on net asset value per unit. If you hold the Fund outside a Registered Plan, you will be taxed on these distributions.

Past performance does not necessarily indicate how the Fund may perform in the future.

Year-by-Year Returns
